A ONE-ACT MUSICAL
based on the book by
JUDY BLUME

Table of Contents
WHAT HAPPENS IN OUR PLAY?
Page 2
A GREAT CAST OF CHARACTERS
Page 3
LEARNING ABOUT SHEILA
Page 4
SHEILA AND JUDY: THE CHARACTER AND THE AUTHOR
Page 5
DEALING WITH FEARS
Page 6
LETTER TO FAMILIES
Page 7
WHAT DID YOU THINK?
Page 8

ARTSPOWER NATIONAL TOURING THEATRE
GARY W. BLACKMAN
MARK A. BLACKMAN
Executive Producers

Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great
Play & Lyrics by GREG GUNNING
Music by RICHARD DeROSA
Costume Design & Construction by FRED SORRENTINO
Sets by TOM CARROLL SCENERY

Performance Study Buddy
Writer: ROSALIND FLYNN
Designer: HOWARD LEVINE
Editor: ANDREA SKERRATT

PLEASE PHOTOCOPY ANY OR ALL OF THE FOLLOWING PAGES TO DISTRIBUTE TO STUDENTS.

Funded in part by The Blanche and Irving Laurie Foundation
What Happens in Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great?

One summer, Mr. and Mrs. Tubman take their two daughters out of New York City to live in a friend’s house in the country. Ten-year-old Sheila is excited about her vacation until she finds out that the house comes with a dog. Sheila is scared of dogs. She is also scared of noises in the night, spiders, the dark, thunder—in fact, she is even afraid of being afraid.

So, she acts as if she is brave. Her older sister, Libby, calls her a chicken. But Sheila is sure no one else knows how frightened she is. After all, she always pretends that she’s brave and that she can do all the things that everyone else can.

Unfortunately, she can’t pretend that she knows how to swim because Marty, her swimming instructor, says she has to pass a test by the end of the summer.

Sheila’s new friend, a girl nicknamed Mouse, helps Sheila understand that it’s okay to have fears and to admit that you don’t know something. Sheila discovers that she can work to face her fears and still be Sheila the Great.

RESOURCES
You may want to know more about the author, Judy Blume. Or you may want to read other books that she has written.

PRINT
Some other books by Judy Blume:
Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing
Superfudge
Are You There, God? It’s Me, Margaret

AUDIO
Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great. Listening Library; ISBN 080727276464.

INTERNET
Judy Blume’s Homepage:
http://www.judyblume.com
Judy Blume Teacher resource File:
http://falcon.jmu.edu/~ramseyil/blume.htm
Interview with Judy Blume:
http://www.artsedge.kennedy-center.org/tours/Tales.judy.html
A Great Cast of Characters

There are six characters or roles in Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great. Sheila is the main character. Other characters who help tell the play’s story are supporting characters. But the cast (all of the actors appearing in the play) does not have six actors. In theater, “doubling” means that one actor plays more than one character. Two actors in Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great “double” in supporting roles. The actor who plays Mouse also plays Libby. The actor who plays Mr. Tubman also plays Marty.

Heard, But Not Seen

Another important character in this play is JENNIFER THE DOG. You will hear her barking, but you will not see a real dog. You and the actors will use your imaginations to pretend that there is a dog on stage.

LEARNING ACTIVITY

Doubling Dilemmas

How can one actor play two different characters?

What would you do to change your

...looks?

...movements?

...voice?

Why do you think theater companies like ArtsPower have actors who double in roles?

LEARNING ACTIVITY

Imagining a Dog

Pretend that you are an actor in Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great. Pair up with a partner and show that you are...

...petting the dog

...giving the dog a treat

...frightened when the dog jumps up on you

...playing with the dog?

When you attend the performance, watch how the actors pretend that Jennifer is a real dog. Why do you think ArtsPower does not use a real dog in the performance?
Learning about Sheila

PLAYWRIGHTS are people who write plays. They write lines of DIALOGUE for actors to speak. The lines give information about the PLOT (story) and the characters. Read Sheila’s lines below. What do you learn about her? Answer the questions below each line and discuss your thoughts with a friend.

Fears
“Sometimes I wonder why I was born like me instead of like Libby who isn’t afraid of anything. It doesn’t seem fair.”
What fears do you have? How do people overcome fears?
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________

Embarrassment
“They give new students swim suits with big letters attached announcing to the whole world that you’re a beginner. It’s so embarrassing. I’ll have to explain to Mouse that I’m not really a beginner. It’s just that I’m out of practice.”
Why do people make excuses for not being good at something?
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________

Friendship
“If a person is sorry for saying stupid things to her best friend, she should just admit it, don’t you think?”
What makes a good friend? How can friends make up after they fight?
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________

Trust
“You promise nothing bad will happen?”
Why is it hard to trust someone who encourages you when you are scared? How do you know that you can trust someone?
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
Sheila and Judy:
The Character and the Author

Many authors base their stories on people and events from their own lives. Sheila Tubman has all of Judy Blume’s childhood fears—dogs, swimming, spiders, and more. The author remembers how scared she was when she had to take her beginner’s swimming test. She uses her own memories and feelings when she creates the characters in her books. When you watch Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great, remember that Sheila is a lot like the author was when she was a child.

The Play and the Novel

ArtsPower playwright Greg Gunning based his one-act play on Judy Blume’s novel. “Based on” means that the playwright used the original story as a starting point. He kept some of the novel’s characters and problems, but he also made some changes. If you have read Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great, watch for differences between the novel and the play. After the performance, discuss how characters and events were similar to and different from those in the book.

LEARNING ACTIVITY

How did the playwright decide which parts of the book to put in the play? Pretend that you are a playwright. Think of a book that you’ve read. Pick a part of that book to make into a play. How many characters will you need? What type of scenery? Do you want music? What type?

LEARNING ACTIVITY

Reading Compared to Acting

Some things which are easy to describe in writing are difficult to show on a stage. Before the performance, imagine and predict how the actors will perform the following actions:

- Mouse does amazing yo-yo tricks.
- Sheila takes swimming lessons in a pool.
- Jennifer the dog chases Sheila.

During the performance, notice how ArtsPower chose to show these actions on stage.
Dealing with Fears

“The only thing we have to fear is fear itself.”

That sentence is very famous. It was said by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1933, when many people in the United States had lost their jobs. Even people who had not lost their jobs were afraid of losing their money and their homes.

The President wanted people to know that bad times happen, and you may become afraid things will get even worse. But, he said, if you trust in the people around you, the fear will go away, and things will get better.

How does Sheila behave when she’s afraid and feels that she’s having a “bad time”?

_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________________

A Great Audience

The company of Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great is ready to perform. All they need now is you!

You are the audience. You play an important part in the performance of Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great. You need to listen carefully and watch closely. It’s great to laugh or applaud if you enjoy the play, but remember that you and the actors are in the same room. You can hear the actors talking, and they can hear you! Talking, whispering, or making noise during the performance makes it hard for them to say their lines and sing their songs. These kinds of noises disturb other audience members, too. Please help ArtsPower present the performance by being a great audience.
Dear Family,

Today I saw a live musical theater performance of Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great. It was presented by ArtsPower National Touring Theatre. ArtsPower is a theater company from Montclair, New Jersey.

This musical play was based on the book by Judy Blume. Sheila Tubman, who often calls herself “Sheila the Great,” is a ten-year-old girl. She pretends to be brave, but she is really scared of things like dogs, darkness, and being embarrassed. The performance was full of songs that helped to tell how Sheila learned to deal with her fears.

The four ArtsPower actors and a stage manager travel with the set, costumes, lights, and sound equipment. Sometimes, they present 12 performances in a week.

Attending a live performance is a lot different from watching a television show or a movie. Please ask me about my favorite characters and parts of the play. I can tell you all the things I remember best.

Love,

We welcome your comments!
Contact ArtsPower at 973-744-0909 or visit us on the web at www.artspower.org
What did you think?

Teacher’s Name

Your School

City, State

Date

ArtsPower National Touring Theatre
271 Grove Avenue, Bldg. A
Verona, NJ 07044

I attended a performance at (name of theatre or venue)

My favorite part of the play was

Another thing I remember about the performance is

That’s because

The best adjective I would use to describe the performance is

Sincerely,

Your Name

PLEASE PRINT!